Improve Your Single Family Rental Investment Strategies and Minimize Risk

What began as an opportunity to generate attractive yields from discounted REO properties has quickly evolved into a new sought after asset class. Offering vital statistical data points down to the ZIP code level, RentalTrends helps reduce time and minimize uncertainty in the Single Family Residential (SFR) investment and property management process.

RentalTrends features rent amounts, rent per square feet, capitalization rates and vacancy rates broken out at the property type and bedroom count levels. As such, it is a critical tool for real estate investors, rating agencies, mortgage lenders, servicers, and property managers.
